As to Mr. Olney.

Mr. Richard Olney, Mr. Cleverand's secretary of state, has not made the Gold Democrats rise as one man to do him honor or follow him in his erratic plen for Bryan. Even his chief, Mr. Cleveland, has so far resisted the at-tractions of supporting the apostic of 16 to 1 so artistically spread before him. In this respect the Brooklyn Eagle, a Democratic paper, presents some inter

In this respect the Brooklyn Eagle, a Democratic paper, presents some lateresting facts, as follows:

Some think that Richard Olney reflects or represents the present political views of Gover Clother Typ argue that as Mr. Grover Clother Typ argue that as Mr. Grover Clother Typ argue that as Mr. Gover Clother Typ argue that as Mr. Glavel and then second the two on politics now is plain. The theory is a legitimate superficial presumption. But the facts under the presumption negative it.

Both Mr. Cleveland's administration they affected each other unpleasantly as often as they did agreeably. Mr. Olney was desirous of the Democratic nomination for President in 1896. Like most men who have such a desire he falled to see why its realization was impossible. He was identified with an administration described by the party which anteed every member of his cubinet. The unchangeable Republicantsm of Massachusetts rendered Democratic recourse to that state for a Presidential candidate contrary to the habit of politics.

These things were not appreciated by Mr. Olney. Nor was his ambition reliabed by Mr. Cleveland, who thought that none of his cabinet should seek preference at the which by and by makes all musle mute.' Personal respect and personal courtesy were maintained, hut those who think that Mr. Olney and by makes all musle mute.' Personal respect and personal courtesy were maintained, but these who think that Mr. Olney to Mr. Cleveland's admiration and confidence as several other members of his cabinet, are excusably incorrect only because the facts, as they are, are not known to them.

The renson for Mr. Olney's course is, therefore, at once apparent. His letter,

The reason for Mr. Olpey's course is therefore, at once apparent. His letter, which has been exploited with a high degree of glee by the Bryanite press presidency. That is all. He is trim-

Back of this the commissioners die not have time to go, and research would be accompanied by investigation of musty volumes in the assessors' department-but there is a suspicion that Mr. Olney voted for Cleveland in 1892."

The Colored Voter.

Anent the communication of Rev. J. W. Waters, which appeared in yesterday's Intelligencer, if the colored cititens of this state allow themselves to be beguiled by the soft words and mises of the Democrats they will rue it all their lives. The Democratic state committee is using more money than lingual arguments, and if through any chance the Democracy should be returned to power in West Virginia with the aid of the negro voters, they will find that they have only put a cluiin the hands of McGraw's party to beat the elective franchise out of them. The disaffection of a few colored leaders should make the rank and file of the negro voters very cautious about following them. Why is it that Chairman Miller and his gang are crying against negro colonization in West Virginia out of one side of their mouths, and using heir best endeavors to proselyte the colored voters out of the other?

Bishop Turner, of the African Methodist Episcopal church, who threatens to invade this state in behalf of Bryan is a sample of the prominent men of the race who have been led astray by Democratic persuasions of a questionable character. Speaking of this gentleman, a Macon, Georgia, corres-pondent of the New York Sun says that interest in political circles in the city of Macon and state of Georgia has been aroused over the announcement of Bishop Henry M. Turner, of the A. M. E. church South, that he would not only vote for Bryan, but also stump the state and country for him. No man of his race has been in the past more bitter against the Democrats of Georgia than he; it is doubtful if his language will help the party, but the bishop has a card up his sleeve that will soon be played.

"It remains to be seen if the sudden change of the bishop in his political will have the desired effect and if it is going to be to the advantage of the Democratic party to cater to that element in this state. The people have not forgotten the advice he gave his race to arm themselves with shotguns and shoot down the first white person who attempted to arrest them. And it remains to be seen, too, if his influence reaches to the extent of controlling the votes of any of his race."

The whole tenor of Bishop Turner's case is one of Bishop Turner looking out for Bishop Turner, and that there is a vague opinion extant that there is sort of an understanding between Northern Democrats and the bishop that will inure to his benefit in case of Bryan's election—but not to the benefit of his race.

Republican Policy Justified.

In justification of the policy of the Republican party towards Porto Rico it is only necessary to point out rapid development of the commerce between the United States and that country since the new act passed at the last session of Congress, which went ineffect May 1, 190

Imports into the United States from that island have increased 50 per cent over those of one year ago, and are three times as great as the average when Porto Rico was Spanish territory while exports to the island have increased nearly 150 per cent over one year ago, and are nearly five times an much as the average when Porto Rico was Spanish territory. During the month of July, whose figures have just been completed by the treasury bureau of statistics, the exports from the United States to the Island were $529,725, against $206,466 in July, 1899, and $156. 296 in July, 1897, and $156,296 in July, Taking the entire three months in which the new act has been in operation, May, June and July, the exports to the Island were $2,117,207, ngainst $873,453, in the corresponding months of 1899, $485,279 in the corresponding months of 1897, and $393,225 in the corresponding months of 1896. On the import side the figures for July, 1900, were $640,023, against $448,267 in July, 1899

$145,273 in 1897 and $254,676 in July, 1896. It is apparent, therefore, from an examination of these figures that imports from Porto Rico in the three months operation of the new law are fully Afty per cent in excess of those for the cor responding months of 1899, when the Island was under the American flag, but the former tariff relations yet unaffected, while they are nearly three times as much as in the corresponding months of the closing years of Spanish control of the Island. Taking the export side of the picture the evidences of growth are still more plainty apparent. The exports from the United States to the island in May, June and July, 1900, amounted to $2,117,207, against $873,453 in the corresponding months of 1899, $485,-279 in the corresponding months of 1897 and $393,225 in the correspondinew law are nearly two and one-half times as much as in the corresponding months of 1899, when the la-land was under the American flag, but nearly five times as much as the average during the closing years of Spanish control of the island.

Croker's Victory.

The nomination of a Croker slate ticket by the Democrats of New York yesterday means the ascendancy of yesterday means the ascendancy of Croker and all that is vicious and impure in politics, and the dethronement of David B. Hill and his followers, who represent the decent, old line Democracy, those who believe in the principles promulgated years ago by the "Sage of Gramercy," Samuel J. Tilden. It also marks an epoch in the history of the New York Democracy by the initiation into state politics of that personlication of political outlawry, Dick Croker, who stands at the head of an organization that has heaped contempt and humiliation upon the government of the greatest city in America.

Croker at last is supreme in the coun clls of his party, and the greatest leader the Democracy possesses in the whole country has been ground under the heel of this debased, uncouth and unprincipled product of the slums of the Bow-

Bryan and Croker now appear side by side in the Empire state, ranking about trusts and imperialism, when in fact, no emperor ever had more absolute power over the liberty of his subjects than this same Boweryite; nor was there ever a more pernicious example of the combination of capital for the purpose of oppressing William Jennings Bryan's "plain people" than the notorious trust, which was conceived and brought to life by the power of Dick Croker.

For these reasons, and countless more that could be enumerated, there is little doubt that the infamous organiza tion which controlled the New York state Democracy at Saratoga will ge down to ignominious defeat in Novem ber before the party that named the present governor of that grand com monwealth.

Croker's Bryanism.

No decent Democrat should be fooled by Boss Croker's professions of his love for Bryan, when in January, 1899, h was an avowed advocate of expansion, expressing his belief "in holding whatever possessions we have gained by annexation, purchase or war." When Croker turned tail on the professions, and caught hold of the tail of the Tammany Tiger and switched it around for Bryan, it inspired one of the free silver journals of New York City to re mark:

This is to be a signal to the whole country that the reform forces of the nation have been solidified and that McKinleyism must any face a united Democratic party. It means that the attempt to re-elect President McKinley will be practically hopeless. New York state is lost to the Republican party.

This provokes the Philadelphia Inquirer to exclaim that "we shall see about that. It is yory true," it says about that. It is very true," it says, "that the Tammany office-holders care nothing about the country's conditions. Free silver or gold, free trade or protection, expansion or the giving up of territory, it is all the same to them They are not expected to think.

But Tammany Isn't New York state and there ought to be enough voters outside of Tammany, voters , who do think, to carry the state for McKinley Once before, when the country was prosperous, the Democratic party cantured it, and confusion, panic and bank ruptey followed.

That lesson, we fancy, is enough. We do not believe that prosperity will take any chance this year." The Deadly Parallel.

Mr. George S. Boutwell, of the sacred cult of Massachusetts, who was in Grant's cabinet, but who is now leading that small coterie of "aunties" as president of the Anti-Imperialistic League, has had the deadliest of deadly paralels drawn on him. It would be hard, indeed, to reconcile two such expresleds drawn on him. It would be hard, indsed, to reconcile two such expressions as the following:

Mr. Boutwellin its3.

"I. The right to nequire territory is inherent in every government, and in our own case it is the constitution of the United States."

"As the essence of a cession of territory is the transfer of Jurisdication over all territory obtained by discovery, conquest or purchase.

"A The formation of the power of the United States, or the United States of the Constitution."

"A The formation of the power of the United States, or the constitution."

The attendance at the State Fair em phatically disproves the assertions of Bryan that there is no prosperity in the country. At last the spell is broken, and the ambitious mercury, like Democratic candidates in this district, is declining. A few more declinations from Demo cratic candidates in this state and the party will not know where "It is at." As McGraw's candidate Mr. Hay mond will find that his campaign will be rather rough sledding.

The question among the First Dem ocrats is: "Who is Haymond?"

The Bryan Sneer at History

New York Sun: Bryan is either fundamentally ignorant of his country's history or he is shamefully trying to mislead public sentiment. the Republicans of being in the wrong and revolutionary in buying the inhabitants of the Philippines at so much per head, although there have in the past been five great national purchases of the same nature, chiefly under Democratic Presidents. In 1803 Jefferson paid $15,000,000 for Louisiana. That was a higher price per head, if the bargain is to be so described, than was given for the Filipinos. In 1819 General Jackson gave $5,000,000 for Florida. This, also, exceeded Philippine quotations.

In 1848 President Polk paid $18,250,000 for New Mexico and California.

In 1853 President Pierce paid $10,000,000 for the Gadsden territory.
In 1867 President Johnson paid $7,200,000 for Alaska.

In 1867 President Johnson paid $7,200,-600 for Alaska.

In all, prior to the purchase of the Phillippines, we paid about $56,000,000 for new territory, in one of which was the inhabitants' consent to be governed ever asked for, and in none of which, when consent was forcibly refused, did the authority of the United States fail to be upheld by the occupant of the white house and the military forces under his command.

This Democratic assault upon the present administration, which is following bravely in the footsteps of its illustrious predecessors in expanding American territory, is a dastardly pretense, without the shadow of historical justification. To the Bryanties it is a mask for free silver. To faithless gold Democrats it is a mask for Bryanism.

Rocking the Boys to Sleep. I sit me down in the twilight cool Of a busy summer's day, And close my eyes and live again The time so far away. When Eddie and James and John were here,

And the tears to my eyes will creep, For I seem to sit in the old brown chair A-rockin' the boys to sieep. I bring John back from a home of wealth, Where fame and honor dwell, And sing, and rock him to sleep once more, more and to steep

More happy than tongue can tell.

I brave the storms on a shoreless sen
Where tempest and surger sweep
And James is here and I rock again
"My wandering boy" to sleep.

I build a stair to the heavens tall, And reach in its sweet domain For little Eddle and boring him back To my lonely home again; My throbbling heart is lonely now With a yearning strong and deen, As I smooth the curls of my only babe. And rock him once more to sleep.

They say the old chair is useless now,
"Tis creaking and dull with age,
And must be forever put aside,
Like a well-learned, worn-out page.
But the old brown chair sings a song to me.

me.
As it whispers of other years,
and it, tells of the roughened places
smoothed.
And murmurs of childish tears.

Yes, the old chair tells in an undertone, In a voice so creaking and old, Of the comfort it gave through summer

In a voice so control of the comfort it gave through.

Of the comfort it gave through.

As well as in winter's cold;

How those little dependent lives were goothed.

Though their childish sorrows deep,

As it did it best to ease each pain,

While reaking the boys to sleep.
